Intersection for the Arts is a bedrock Bay Area arts nonprofit that’s dedicated to helping artists grow. Through vital resources, including fiscal sponsorship, low-cost coworking and event space, and professional development programs, we empower people to continue creating, thinking big, and taking weird and wonderful risks.

We believe art and culture are necessary elements of wellbeing. That’s why we serve people working in the arts—from artists to educators to administrators to funders.

We take the stance that artists should be at the top of the systems that were originally created to support their work. Art institutions would not exist but for artists’ creativity, sweat, blood, tears, and enormously generous hearts. We support those who take matters into their own capable hands and make their own opportunities. We stand by artists every day in their efforts to make our communities better, healthier, more exciting and dynamic places to live our lives.
Sorry we’re late. Something came up.

It feels very strange to be writing about Fiscal Year 20 (July 1, 2019 - June 30, 2020) a year after it closed. It just doesn't seem real, somehow. Could we have possibly started it out optimistic and roaring with energy? We did. But that feels like a lifetime ago. So much has changed. For all of us.

Human beings are resourceful and adaptable. The artists we support are no exception. After all, the creative process is a constant improvisation. So is responding to a global pandemic. As new information comes in the artist is informed in new ways and adjusts. Yes, there was a lot lost due to the shutdown; performances that never happened, gallery shows canceled, classrooms shuttered. So in addition to fearing for our very lives we dealt with sometimes crushing disappointment. But, being adaptable we rallied in unexpected and inspiring ways. We shifted to the virtual space, learning new tools and expressing ourselves in new forms. What was lost is still being measured - so is what was gained.

This report is a snapshot of two time periods. One is a comprehensive look at the fiscal year that began with hope and the initial months of challenges. The other is the still developing portrait of the fiscal year that just ended, the one spent almost entirely in the new reality. As you'll see, through it all we carried on. We made things happen. Art survived. And it was more important than ever.

Our immense gratitude to Daniel Harvey for his work as our Space Director!

Daniel started with Intersection when we lived at the Chronicle building and managed our rapid relocation to our current coworking office at 1446 Market, where he made us a home and filled it with life and creativity. When the pandemic hit, Daniel leaped into motion, ensuring our space was safe for our members when reopening rolled around and updating all the meeting rooms with video conferencing software. We are so grateful for all of the work he has done to make Intersection a welcoming and creative space for artists and cultural workers.
Intersection’s core programs include fiscal sponsorship for over 170 artists and arts organizations, professional development workshops and programs, and our space program that provides low-cost coworking and event rentals for arts and cultural organizations.

Voices of the Community

Our fiscally sponsored members have access to a wealth of resources. We offer free grant reviews, expense tracking and monthly account statements, online fundraising capability, tax acknowledgement letters, discounted coaching and consulting, member rates for workshops, and funding opportunities.
2020 fundamentally changed the way we gather, protest, celebrate, mourn, create, and enjoy. Our artist community showed up to provide healing, make connections, ignite discussions, and challenge status quo—responding to real-time changes and challenges. They helped get out the vote, fought for justice and equity, offered healing and meaningful reflection as fires burned across our state, and they served as second responders to a pandemic that left our communities thirsty for connection and culture.

2020 MEMBER HIGHLIGHTS

PAINT THE VOID
Matched local artists with boarded up storefronts to create murals in the void left behind by COVID-19.

AMERICAN INDIAN CULTURAL CENTER
Worked to establish the American Indian Cultural District in San Francisco, which on March 31, 2020 was unanimously passed by the SF Board of Supervisors.

SAFETY NET FUND
Provided grants to Bay Area artists who lost income due to COVID-19. They distributed over $630,000 in 2020.

RED POPPY ART HOUSE
Moved their community arts initiative—Mission Arts and Performance Project (MAPP)—online, virtually hosting musicians, poets, artists, and more.

INDEPENDENT MUSICIANS ALLIANCE
Created Safe Place to Play, a free play/rehearsal space for up to 8 musicians with COVID-19 safety protocols in place.

DRAWTOGETHER
New York Times bestselling illustrator, Wendy MacNaughton started #DrawTogether, a virtual drawing class for kids!
Our projects work across many disciplines—from visual arts to performance to arts education and advocacy—and vary in size and frequency of programming.

In FY 20, the work of our members reached 3,853,930 people across the Bay Area, nationally, and internationally.

Shoutout to our member Movement Podcast whose monthly feature on PRX’s The World reaches 2.5 million listeners! Movement tells stories of human migration through music, hosted by Ethiopian-American singer Meklit Hadero.

Many of our projects kept in touch with their communities, donors, and funders throughout the pandemic by producing virtual or outdoor programming.

20+ member projects received funds from specific COVID relief grants, totaling $200,000+ in revenue. Additionally, in light of the pandemic, many funders issued additional grants or amendments to existing grantees. Many funders also loosened their parameters or shifted their focus to general operating support.
SPACE PROGRAM

We provide workspace for people in arts, culture, and the nonprofit sector to connect and thrive.

We've planted our roots here on Market Street. We moved into our space at the end of FY 19 and spent FY 20 settling in and getting grounded. We're proud to be home to so many folks doing work to make our communities better, more connected, and exciting places to live our lives.

"... a supportive and productive atmosphere."

"Intersection has been a wonderful new home base for SF Youth Theatre. Its beautiful design, welcoming staff and 24 hour access makes it such a pleasant and efficient place to work. I especially enjoy working alongside other like-minded arts organizations. We are all working towards the same goal, which creates a supportive and productive atmosphere."

— Emily Klion, San Francisco Youth Theatre
SPACE PROGRAM

IMPACT OF COVID-19

In March 2020 our coworking office closed for an indefinite period of time due to the pandemic. After months of readying the space and monitoring city guidelines, we reopened to existing coworking members with safety regulations, reconfigured desks to allow for social distancing, designated flows of movement through the space, improved ventilation and air flow, and lots and lots of hand sanitizer. We also updated all of our meeting rooms with Zoom conferencing equipment to accommodate increased desire for virtual connection in our new normal.

MOVING THROUGH THE SPACE
Our Professional Development Program comprises three main offerings for artists and cultural workers: skill-building workshops, coaching & consulting, and interactive programs.

WORKSHOPS

Our skill-building workshops are designed to give artists, arts administrators, and cultural workers the tools to grow their creative practice or arts venture.

COACHING & CONSULTING

One-on-one help for our fiscally sponsored projects with expert coaches and consultants.

Intersection's coaching and consulting program is a discounted one-hour session where our coaches give our fiscally sponsored projects one-on-one advice based on their needs. Coaching topics include fundraising, staff management, workshop facilitation, and more.

PROGRAMS

THE ACCELERATOR: An 8-week program that teaches the business side of creative work.

ARTS FINANCE TRAINING PROGRAM: NEW IN FY 21! A 5-week program to train artists, arts workers, and cultural practitioners in the basics of bookkeeping for an arts nonprofit, from financial literacy, to reporting, to software.
PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

THE ACCELERATOR

The Accelerator program helps artists and arts professionals build business models for their creative projects through hands-on classes, group counseling, and individual coaching sessions. We graduated 21 students in FY 20.

CALIFORNIA COLLEGE OF THE ARTS (CCA)

CCA Sparks is a program for undergraduate and graduate students at California College of the Arts (CCA), designed to support the creation of new business ventures through experiential learning, skill-building, and mentorship, culminating in a pitch event.

MILLS COLLEGE

THE BUSINESS OF BEING AN ARTIST

"The Business of Being an Artist" is a Mills College course in which undergraduate and graduate students created a business plan for their arts venture. Curriculum is based on developing the artists’ individual pathway to reach their career goals.

NOTE: In FY 21 we moved our Accelerator online. As of July 2021 we have trained and additional 29 artists and cultural workers virtually and replicated our program for San Francisco Grants for the Arts and Arts Council Santa Cruz County.

IN FY 20 WE BROUGHT OUR ACCELERATOR PROGRAM TO CALIFORNIA COLLEGE OF THE ARTS (CCA) AND MILLS COLLEGE

"...more encouraged and motivated than ever before.”

"The Accelerator provided a platform to share my arts business with others in a collaborative cohort. Getting feedback from fellow arts practitioners and entrepreneurs was empowering. A lot of best practices were demystified for me. I’m left feeling more encouraged and motivated than ever before!"

— Evan Johnson, Accelerator 2020 Graduate
Intersection offers various workshops that teach the business side of creative work. We boost skills in grantwriting, budgeting, filing your taxes as an artist, and more.

IN FY 20 WE TRAINED 700+ ARTISTS AND CULTURAL WORKERS IN OUR WORKSHOPS.

AT THE END OF FY 20, WE MOVED ALL OF OUR WORKSHOPS ONLINE, ALLOWING US TO REACH A BROADER GROUP OF ARTS WORKERS.

GRANTS FOR THE ARTS WORKSHOPS

We partnered with Grants for the Arts to host a free series of workshops specifically focused on applying for Grants for the Arts' General Operating Support Grant.

ARTS COMMUNITY SUPPORT CIRCLES

March - December 2020: Intersection offered virtual support circles for artists, arts administrators and cultural workers seeking connection and a path forward during the pandemic.
FY 20 HIGHLIGHTS

36 new fiscally sponsored projects

29 skill-building workshops hosted

718 enrollments in our workshops for artists & cultural workers

21 artists & cultural workers graduated from our Accelerator

18 virtual Arts Community Support Circles
Since the end of FY20, there's been a lot of movement at Intersection to respond to challenges and opportunities as they arise in the world. We founded a staff committee dedicated to assessing our programs for inclusion, diversity, accessibility, and equity (IDEA), we moved our professional development programming to virtual formats, we've continued the project of coming into compliance with AB 5, and we launched our new Arts Finance Training Program.

“We are extremely appreciative of Intersection’s administrative support. That’s our primary need. Neither of us has a background in nonprofit management, and we both have other jobs that support us personally, apart from the budget that Intersection helps us raise and manage that serves our community of users. Without Intersection’s administrative support I doubt we could function.”

— Megan Prelinger, Prelinger Library

“I adore working with IFTA. I couldn’t do my job without you, and I feel so incredibly well supported.”

- Anna Smith, The Quinan Street Project

“I really appreciate everyone on the IFTA team, who work so hard in what I think are often ‘unsung hero’ roles. The admin work that IFTA does is incredibly valuable to us, and I’m so grateful to the team for their dedication and professionalism.”
